CHANGING MY PERSPECTIVE: GROWING REQUIRED

(ATT Course Code CD, EP, CP)

Human behavior is complex and requires professionals to look at it from a variety of perspectives. In our ever changing and demanding world, a child's behavior is impacted by the self, adult behavior, and the environment. When these three components of self, adult behavior, and environment focus on positivity and growth, the child develops a positive attitude, open to growth. Teachers will explore the link between relationship, environment, curriculum, and positive attitudes through education, psychology, and neuroscience. They will acquire skills and strategies to increase the impact of their instruction in the classroom. Teachers will learn how to infuse themselves, their classroom, and their students with positivity toward growth.
